Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Thursday 30 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Breezy with bands of rain moving east followed by showers.

This Evening and Tonight:
Bands of rain or showers, some heavy, will move east across most areas overnight, with a few drier interludes between. Heaviest rain likely over Wales overnight. Breezy with gusty winds near western and southern coasts.

Friday:
Rain, some heavy, clearing east, followed by sunny spells and scattered showers. The showers prolonged in the north-west where gales are also likely.

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Unsettled Saturday with showers in the north and heavy rain spreading from the south. Very windy along some southern coasts. Windy with sunny spells and heavy showers Sunday and Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.